

HINESVILLE.

HINESVILLE, Va., July 31.—Recently while James T. Fuller was driving a wild mule on the Hinesville-Swananville road, the mule became frightened at a passing automobile, overturning the buggy and seriously injuring Mr. Fuller's ankle. At last accounts Mr. Fuller was confined to his bed and suffering very much.

Miss Pattie Doud is on the sick list.

Mr. Parkinson, of Richmond, Va., has settled in Hinesville and is engaged in the blacksmith business.

Elder W. R. Dodd is attending the Primitive Baptist Association in North Carolina.

Andrew Jackson has a new baby boy at his house.

The Hinesville crops are better than they are in other sections.

An ounce of intention isn't worth a pound of cure.

THE VOICE FROM WTAM

That deep, clear, resonant voice coming from broadcasting station WTAM of the Willard Storage Battery Company in Cleveland, belongs to Arthur R. Herske, announcer. He is the "voice from the storage battery," as listeners learn when he signs off. He has become so famous that fans have been sending him cakes, candy and other delicacies as tokens of their appreciation.

Doctor Can Be Miles Away

A man may be stricken ill on the high seas. The nearest doctor may be on a ship 200 miles or more away. Yet that doctor may diagnose the case and prescribe exactly what should be done in the absence of a physician. The radio stethoscope has made it possible. The heartbeats can be transmitted easily. Here is a closeup of a group of physicians testing the new apparatus.

RADIO NOTES

WIRELESS EDUCATION

England is going to adopt the system of education by radio now in vogue in various parts of the country. Besides broadcasting for school children, the stations also will broadcast weather reports and other official announcements which the government previously had in charge.

UNION TO BROADCAST

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is planning a powerful broadcasting station in connection with the construction of its new bank skyscraper in Cleveland. Several other stations are being planned for this city.

NEW RADIO HOTEL

Nashville, Tenn., is to have a radio apartment hotel. Every suite in it will be equipped with a receiving set. The hotel is planned to cost $2,000,000.

SWEDEN LIFTS BAN

Sweden has raised the ban on amateur radio transmission. Thirty licenses have already been issued to amateurs.

CHANGE CALL LETTERS

Stations of the Canadian National Railways have had their call letters changed, each station to begin with the initials of the railways, CNR and end with the initials of the town in which it is situated. The call letters formerly were those of Morocco, which has ceded them to the Canadian National Railways.

CLEAN JOINT NEEDED

A good soldering job requires a clean joint. After this the joint must be heated to make the solder effective. A slight touch of rosin as flux is all that is necessary for the operation.

INSURANCE TELLS RADIO TALE

What is a radio entertainment worth? A recent insurance policy tells the tale. It was written by lords of London to insure the entertainment by Ernie Young and his musical revue company, broadcast from WOR, Newark, against possible S. O. S. calls or atmospheric disturbance.

The policy called for a $50,000 amount to which the company might be liable. This is taken as the estimated value of Ernie Young's entertainment from WOR, Newark, to the radio public for one night.

A producer of musical comedies recently estimated that his weekly gross business was increased by $3,000 to several weeks following broadcasting of a single act of his production.

DAILY PUZZLE

A group of soldiers were stationed at an outpost. Half of them were sent out to reconnoiter; one-fourth were given leave; one seventh were sent to another post, which left only three soldiers in the post. How many soldiers were there?

Yesterday's answer:

NO SMOKING ALLOWED

The professor explained that the sign not only granted him the privilege of smoking, but also intimated that it would be preferable for him to smoke, for the following reasons: If the sign had said, "Smoking Allowed," it would be clear that it would be preferable not to smoke, but any one might enjoy a smoke if he so wished. Therefore, the sign "Smoking Allowed" could only be construed to mean that it would be preferable to smoke; but "no smoking" would be allowable. In other words, a person would not be forced to smoke if he preferred not!

INCREASE IN FRENCH COAL

PARIS, July 31.—The coal output of France, cut in two by German devastation, continues to increase and in January next beyond the present point. The French mines now turn out about 45,000,000 tons a year, a tenth of which comes from the Lorraine mines.

LOCAL TALENT PRESENTS PLAY AT ASSOCIATION

"Kanjundu," an African Missionary play in three sections will be presented as a part of the program of the General Baptist Association, now in session at the Chatham Training School, Chatham, Va., this evening at 8 o'clock. The play will be directed by Mrs. James P. Craft, of Averett College, while the cast will be composed of local talent from the First Baptist church, Danville.

Program

Mrs. Harvey, the Missionary's wife—Mrs. James P. Craft; Elizabeth Deming, a visitor—Miss Mary Thomas; Mr. Harvey, the Missionary—Mr. M. L. Skaggs; Kanjundu, a Bantu chief—Mr. P. W. Ashworth; Mambu, a witch doctor—Mr. P. H. Neal; Chikula, an Evangelist—Mr. William Dodson; Killings, Kanjundu's wife—Miss Susie Wood; Konde, a native woman—Mrs. D. B. Gardner; Oraniga, an old woman—Miss Helen Keeling.

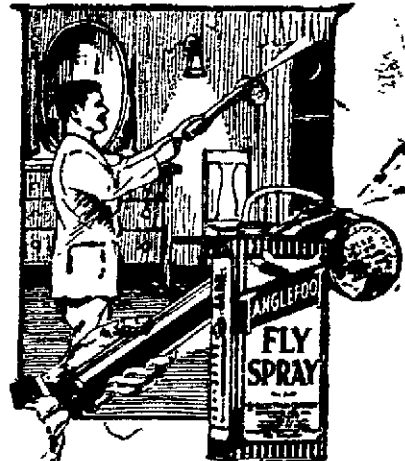

Six School Boys of the Mission: Bayana, Jack, Martin, Ange, Hugh, Clements, Misdi, Anderson, Myers, Ivaha, Julian Bennett, Ayenwe, Billie Fowlkes, Ngwanga, James Craft.

Synopsis—The scene is laid in the garden of one of the mission stations in Africa. Mr. Harvey and his wife are working with the native boys in the mission school. These learn very fast, and are helpful. Soon the chief, Kanjundu, comes to school with ten of his sons. His wife, Killings, is a Christian. Konde, a native woman, is a Christian too, and teaches her old friend, Oraniga, to love Christ. Soon Kanjundu, the chief, gives up spirit worship and throws away his fetiches. This makes Mambu, his witch doctor, very angry, because he realizes he is losing power. He soon sees the evil of his way and turns and accepts Christ.

The Harveys have a young American friend, Miss Deming, visiting them for a while, and when she sees the work of the mission, she is willing to give up honor and position to teach in Africa.

Visitor Complimented.
Miss Josephine Dixon of Winston-Salem, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ernest Murren West Main street, was guest of honor at a charming bridge-party given by Miss Gertrude Redford and Ernest Murren West Main street, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Pritchett, Main street. The rooms were gay with summer flowers in pastel shades and the game went merrily. The prizes were of high-score prize, two decks of cards, and the souvenir gift to the guest-of-honor was an attractive vanity case. Refreshments were served in two courses. Mr. Murren acted as hostess. Those playing were: Misses Florence Penn, Josephine Dixon, Dorothy Murren, Dorothy Fulton, Mary Conway, Josephine Redford, Ernest Murren, Dudley Greedy, Albert Ryan, Chilton Day, James Shelburne, Jr., Gerald Frank Ernest Marchand, Hiram Carter.

Children's Party.
An attractive juvenile party was given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. R. L. Dible at the home of her daughter, Louise, and Louise Dible, the little sister of the hostess, and Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dible.
About thirty lovely children were present and were very happy in the games. Mrs. Dible was assisted in the party by her daughter, Louise, and her sister, Mrs. J. N. Dible. Refreshments were served.

Lower-Fleming.
A wedding of interest took place in Virginia and New York on Thursday at 2 p. m. in the parsonage of Calvary Methodist church when Miss Della Wilmer Fleming of Danville, Va., was united in marriage to Thomas P. Lower of Salisbury, N. C. The bride was escorted by her brother, Mr. J. S. Fleming, and the groom by his brother, Mr. J. S. Fleming. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. S. Fleming. The bride and groom were accompanied by their families and friends. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Fleming, in Danville, Va. The wedding was a very attractive affair and was well attended.

PRESOTT VERY ILL

(Extract from "The Morning Argosy")

The invitations to a large party to have been given by Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Prescott this evening have been recalled, as Mrs. Prescott has left hurriedly for the home of her father, whose illness is serious.

Mrs. Prescott's parents, accompanied by their youngest daughter and her fiancé, Mr. Karl Whitney, returned from Europe about a month ago and they were joined in New York by Mrs. Prescott. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton and their daughter have been some months in England with Miss Hamilton's fiancé.

Mr. Hamilton was not well during the latter part of his stay abroad and during his stay in New York his illness became more apparent. Since arriving at his home he has grown steadily worse.

Yesterday the invitations for Miss Hamilton's wedding to Mr. Karl Whitney were stopped just as they were being delivered at the post-office and the invitations to Mrs. Prescott's party were recalled.

The marriage of Paula Perier's Pub-Hicly Man:

(On the Dramatic Page of "The Argosy")

This evening at the Roanoke Hotel the marriage of Miss Beulah Gravelly to Mr. John Alden Prescott will be solemnized. The bride has many friends in the city. She had come over to be present at the party to have been given by Mr. and Mrs. Prescott, which has been called off because of the serious illness of Mrs. Prescott's father.

Miss Gravelly was Mrs. Prescott's maid of honor three years ago and her marriage to Mr. Prescott had been planned as a surprise for Mrs. Prescott's guests at her third anniversary.

Mrs. Prescott's hurried departure for the home of her father, made necessary a change of plans, and Miss Gravelly's wedding will be at the Roanoke Hotel tonight with Mr. Sydney Carlton as best man and Mrs. Sally Atherton as matron of honor.

Mr. Summers is one of the staff of the Pinnacle Moving Picture Production Co. and such as such as he is a beautiful star, Paula Perier, to fame. It is expected that Miss Perier will come up from New York, where she is staying at present to attend the wedding.

The woman's Union Prayer meeting will meet this afternoon at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. D. Gregory on Jefferson street. The meeting will be led by Mrs. A. R. Murphy.

Marriage at Ocean View.
The following item taken from the "Landmark," Norfolk, Virginia, is of interest to the friends of the young couple in this city where Mr. Brewer is reared and where he has many relatives and friends:

The marriage of Miss Mary Louise Harrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Harrell, and George Fitzgerald Brewer, of this city, took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride on Chesapeake avenue, Ocean View. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry Rasmussen-Taxdall, rector of the Church of the Epiphany.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a suit of dark blue cloth and a hat to match. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Pauline Foster was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of black georgette with silver lace and a picture hat of black and carried an arm bouquet of roses. The bridegroom had as his best man his brother, W. S. Brewer. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Brewer left for a wedding trip, and on their return they will make their home on Hillview avenue, Ocean View.

The out-of-town guests included: Mrs. Marywood Ring, of Lewiston, Me.; C. Mrs. A. J. Wharton and son, of Richmond; Miss Sadie Riddick, of Portsmouth; Mrs. M. J. Panama; A. D. Wharton, Jr., of Richmond; Mrs. N. E. Morgan, of Lynchburg; and Rev. and Mrs. Green, of South Norfolk.

Social News of Whitwell.

Whitwell has been unusually quiet for the past few days, due partly to an epidemic of mumps. However, no new cases have been reported for some time and the old cases have recovered.

The people in and around the village have enjoyed a series of picnics. Mr. S. B. Oakes gave a delightful picnic for the little folks, last Wednesday.

Miss Amy Powell, of Martinsville, is the guest of Mrs. George Williams. Miss Pannell expects to leave the first of September for Porto Rico, where she will teach through the coming winter.

Willie Burton and G. T. Watson, of Macon, Georgia, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. W. Burton for the past ten days, will return to Hampton Roads tomorrow where they will enter Naval school.

Mrs. Julian Pollock and little daughter, of Charlotte, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Pollock.

The Whitwell Bible class will hold a lawn-party Friday evening, on the athletic field. Every one is cordially invited to come.

Miss Virginia Bond, of Bedford, is visiting Miss Alice Adams.

Miss Virginia Pollock will leave for Bedford Saturday.

Mrs. George Williams gave a swimming party Wednesday afternoon, which was greatly enjoyed by every one present.

FASHION NOTES

OLD JEWELRY.
Antique jewelry is very popular now. Old gold and silver necklaces are remounted with semi-precious stones and the effect is very barbaric and splendid.PLAIN HOSE.
Hosiery is practically without ornamentation now and the sheerest effects are the best liked.SILVER RIBBON.
Silver ribbon is used to edge the ruffles and scallops that rim youthful frocks of georgette crepe or organdie.POCKETS BACK.
Pockets are seen on many of the smartest dresses for fall and frequently they are embroidered in silk. Black silk in very gorgeous peasant colorings.PASTEL SHADES.
Organdie and taffeta, particularly in the pastel shades, are combined very effectively this season. Pleated sections and aprons are of the organdie and the under tunic is of taffeta.FOR MIDSUMMER.
For midsommer the medium-sized hat is getting a bit of notice. There is a tendency to broaden the sides of the hats and to shorten the front and back. Bows and trimmings of the tailored sort are used in the back instead of the front.BRILLIANT COLORS.
Very attractive scarfs are of brilliant colors with hand-painted designs. The newest bands for watches are also hand-painted.CAMELLIA CHANGING.
The camellia is changing colors as the season advances. First every one wore the natural white ones then came the deep red ones and now green ones are the rage.PEASANT COSTUMES.
Peasant costumes have become practically staples now and are worn in any number of attractive styles. Black and white, red or in royal blue, or in a combination of colors are probably the most popular.POPULAR FABRICS.
Among the popular fabrics for fall and winter are crepes with chenille and velvet figures interwoven. A lavish use of fur is also foreseen.

HELPFUL HINTS

SAFEGUARD AGAINST MOTHS.
Sunshine and air are the best safeguards against moths. Garments that are worn frequently are less liable to be eaten than those left undisturbed in a dark closet.PEELING TOMATOES.
It is easier to peel tomatoes by sticking them on a fork and holding over the gas flame until the cracks than it is to put them in hot water and the result is much more satisfactory.RULES FOR IRONING.
When ironing, iron the thinnest part of a garment first, then the parts that will muss least, such as the collar, cuffs and sleeves. The iron should be hot and the steam should be turned on. Wrinkles must not be allowed.PUT IN SAFE PLACE.
Bottles of milk should never be left where animals can reach them and they should always be washed before the are put into the refrigerator.HOMEMADE MOTH BAGS.
When you have no paper moth bags in which to store your winter clothes a good substitute is made by stitching large newspapers together on the machine with a long stitch, making the bags just the size you desire the into be.SPONGE CAKE.

SPEND SUMMER HUNTING "GOLDEN DUST"

OMAHA, Aug. 1.—They are spending the summer gathering dust—And when autumn comes they expect to have a quarter of a glass full—

But Dr. William Sturges, nationally known bacteriologist, and his wife will be satisfied.

For it is "golden dust" they are collecting. It is a "dust" that is proving a blessing of humanity. It is the pollen of powder, in the flower of the Russian thistle—a powder that has been found to have remarkable hay fever curing facilities.

Mixed into a glycerin vaccine, it has been used in treating hundreds of hay fever sufferers. And 84 per cent of those so treated say they have been cured entirely.

Dr. and Mrs. Sturges are hunting the "golden dust" day and night. By the end of summer, they think they will have gathered 15 grams of it.

Yet that is the full supply needed by the New York laboratory for which the doctor and his wife are seeking it.

With a camelhair brush the pollen are separated and put into a glass container. Then the powder is run through a sieve so fine it keeps out the stray hairlike stamens which accidentally have fallen into the dust.

The Russian thistle—the farmers, it has been curing it for years.

call it "umbleweed"—rolls for miles through the prairies in autumn. In summer, its main purpose, to all intents, seems to be to crowd out other plants affording more profitable yield.

Sixteen injections of the vaccine are used in a treatment. The first injection may be a dose of only five-millionths of a gram. And the last is no more than 16 ten-thousandths.

The treatments for a time—even two years—may bring only temporary relief. But finally, according to Dr. Sturges, they make it unnecessary for hay fever sufferers to seek a change in climate to obtain relief from their sneezes and coughs.

Peggy was a gay deceiver. Just what she had been doing on him during her brief courtship he does not make clear. And, as Peggy says, if he had just read the papers he could have learned all about her before taking the fatal plunge.

So far, Peggy has married once because there was nothing better to do in Farmville, three times because woosers of great wealth came along and once—in the case of Count Morner—for "love." All of these reasons, upon second thought, seem to have proved inadequate. What will she marry next time for? Maybe for mforce of habit.

PEGGY JOYCE PUZZLE TO MATRIMONIAL FOLLOWERS

By ROWLAND WOOD
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The great question that must be agitating the minds of hundreds of susceptible young Americans is: Admit it today is Hopkins Joyce—as she prefers to be called despite her latest title—is going to get married again.

Well, the answer is that even the beautiful Peggy does not know. If the right fellow came along, who knows? At least that was the impression a host of newspaper men got when they interviewed the fair charmer on the wreck of her latest romance, her one that made her the Countess Gosta Morner.

The countess who scorns her title, now that she has discovered her hair dresser knew her better as plain Peggy Joyce, received in her gorgeous apartment, which succeeds in Count Morner's net tooth paste business in Chicago is too modest to maintain.

One look at the apartment and at the elevated Louis quatorze bed in the midst of which the beautiful Peggy sat attired in magnificent silk kimono and little less splendid pajamas, was enough to convince the guests that Peggy had made a great mistake in marrying a poor man even if he was handsome and a count.

As to getting married again, the fair Peggy reserved her inalienable right to be inconsistent. How she talked, pensively of being an old maid. "You see," she would not swear off marrying again, having demonstrated once that she could not be counted on to keep the pledge. And when somebody spoke of the swell grey suit in which the Count Morner received reporters, Peggy averred that she was going to demand that suit back as she "might need it for Husband No. 6."

Yes, she has had five of 'em already as her father down in his Farmville, Va., barber shop put it. "more husbands than there are stripes on my barber's pole."

But even so, she is not wholly convinced that marrying is a bad game. With five husbands to her credit at thirty, Peggy appears to have a good chance of breaking all matrimonial records before her charm poses. All this of course, assuming that either she or the count succeeds in breaking the present hateful ties. Summons in the count's suit for an annulment already has been filed on Miss Joyce.

The only reason a summons in her suit for annulment has not been filed on him is that an army of process servers has not yet been able to catch him. He is reported to have gone back to Chicago.

The chief trouble with her latest romance is that Peggy sees it is that counts come too high for a working girl. Since she married Count Morner a little less than two months ago she has spent $10,000 maintaining

BRITAIN HAS NEW WAR TERRORS

By MILTON BRONNER

SHEFFIELD, England, July 31. — Grand Matthews may tell his so-called death ray secret to France, but England will be safe all the same, with Professor T. F. Wall sooming his own death ray at any hostile air force and Ernest Welsh making the skies untenable by a deadly rain of fire far more terrible than anything a volcano ever emits.

I found Dr. Wall in the electrical research laboratory of Sheffield University. This laboratory is his own domain in the great school.

Unlike many men who have been loudly proclaiming their discoveries, Wall is painfully modest. Mr. Wall is to him to tell me all about it was met by this.

"I can only say I have discovered a means for transmitting electrical energy in any desired direction across space without the use of intervening wires. I have patented it to protect myself and my country."

"I may go a step farther and say that I believe by this form of energy I have discovered a means to kill living things at great distances. I have not tried this as yet, but am confident it can be done."

"The third step—that of destroying or stopping machinery—is one which I am not prepared to discuss. Electrical energy conceivably might kill a living thing, but not seriously affect a piece of mechanism."

Germans Are Busy, Too

"However, you can readily see the possibilities of what I have already discovered. If this ray of electrical energy can kill living things over great distances, it will make abortive any attempt by an enemy to attack England from the air. It could kill the crews in the airplanes and ships and the more machines would then be of little danger to us."

"But my first tests will be made by and with the experts of my own government. If the thing proves true, I want Great Britain to have the benefit of whatever defensive and offensive value it has."

"Scientific minds all over the world have been at work on this problem. I was educated at Karlsruhe, in Germany, and since the war have come into touch with people over there again. From something recently communicated to me, I am quite confident the Germans have already discovered a ray that is so powerful it will stop a motor car in its way."

Over at the little village of Ferrisby, near Hull, I found a different kind of scientist—Ernest W. Welsh, who came near being a Brooklynite. But his parents moved back to Wales, the old country and he was born there. During the war he discovered the first Verity Light, invented a method of hearing the approach of submarines, and the antidote to German chlorine gas. His claims for these things still are pending. At Ferrisby he is manufacturing a non-inflammable movie film and is just closing a deal for the sale of the American rights.

And Now the Death Rocket
Said he, "I have invented a rocket which will put out of business any airplane or airship that as enemy power could send over. My rocket is a tailless one, shot from a tube by a charge of explosive. I have invented it so I can send the rocket up into the air anywhere from 1000 to 22,000 feet.

"When this rocket is at the top of its carrying power that is, when it reaches the zenith of its upward flight—there is an explosion in the rocket which scatters in every direction between 300 and 400 little receptacles. These in turn explode, sending a rain of red hot molten metal in every direction."

"This metallic substance is an alloy of aluminum and some other things that I have invented. The heat of these metallic pellets is so intense that it will cut right through steel."

"Now figure an enemy power sends a fleet of airplanes over London. So soon as the signal is given, each station in various parts of the city shoot up my rockets. The air becomes untenable for the enemy, these blazing pellets destroy the wings of the airplanes, cut through the metallic parts, set fire to airships and explode them terribly burning and even killing the crews."

"No machine and no man can live in that fiery shower."

"But there is no danger to the people on the buildings below, because and fall back to earth in harmless almost imperceptible dust."

"The rocket would be between two and three feet long. For my tests I have used a rocket one foot long with a different charge of powder for each inch of length. Most of these powders have invented myself. Your American professor, Goddard, who proposes to shoot a rocket at the moon, undoubtedly has worked along the same lines."

"But the death ray is still a theory. My death ray is a proved fact. I have tested it."

"And I have found that the fiery pellets will burn even through asbestos."

will make good—but I don't want to see him again.

The story of Mats' release from prison reads like fiction. One night, convict number C-915, as Mats then was known, was permitted to sing "Dear Old Pal of Mine" over the WIP station broadcasting circuit. His clear, sonorous and sympathetic voice he put into the song touched thousands of listeners. More than a thousand of them, including Governor Ritchie, wrote letters praising the convict's performance.

One listener was so impressed that he visited the penitentiary and met Mats. Then he hired counsel and started a movement for the singer's release.

The board of pardon, granted the application and a week ago Mats stepped forth a free man. One of his first acts was to write his wife and ask her to take him back. She declined.

Mats is making good in the world outside again, but not as might be supposed. The golden voice is silenced and Mats is starting out anew with an automobile concern. The job was obtained for him by the vice-president of the penitentiary board of trustees. There are 42 men who arranged the concert at which Mats won his freedom.

Mats is a keen-minded man of 28 who, until he was convicted of breaking into a store in Allentown in 1921, had never been arrested. His downfall was attributed to his failure to stick close enough to his "dear old pal," for whom he substituted less moral companions.

CONVICT WITH GOLDEN VOICE RELEASES

Wife Wishes Him Well, But She Files Suit For Divorce

By D. W. BROOKE

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—The strains of "Oh, How I Miss You, Dear Old Pal of Mine," carried to the world at large by radio, proved an open sesame for Russell S. Mats, a prisoner in the Eastern State penitentiary. But, though free, Mats still can sing with feeling of how he misses his dear, old pal.

Mats' young wife, Evelyn, it was disclosed today, has just obtained a favorable recommendation in a master's report on her suit for divorce. She sued on the technical ground of her husband's imprisonment for felony.

Mrs. Mats knows all about Mats' golden vow. She knew all about it before Mats sang his way to freedom with it. But she is determined to "go it alone" from now on, just the same.

"It's a bit hard to believe that all this good luck has come to Russell," said the young woman, whose home is in Allentown. "But I am glad he is free. I wish him luck and hope he will make good—but I don't want to see him again."

WHERE WILL THE GIRLS PLAY?

Steps taken by the city council a few days ago to renovate the municipal hall ensures the improvement being made prior to the American Legion Convention, the date of which is drawing near quickly.

The shabby appearance of this public meeting place has long been a reproach and is probably responsible for its infrequent use.

The rehabilitation of the hall includes its complete interior decoration and, we hope, substitution of the ugly ceiling lights with less offensive chandeliers, the replacing of the numerous broken windows and the establishment on the floor of new seats.

The gallery will not be included in the improvement scheme for this has been turned over to military organizations which are making full use of it.

Following the expenditure contemplated, twelve hundred dollars, steps are to be taken to preserve the hall and to stop the abuses which are self-evident today with bullet holes in the walls and ceiling and a litter of half or completely broken benches.

It will in fact be maintained as a municipal hall worthy of the name and offered for public usage at the nominal rental of ten dollars each night.

The improvement project, however, raises a question which will concern high school girls particularly for if it is to be preserved, it virtually means its elimination as a sport centre and the girls' basketball team will have to prove some other location for their winter practise and match games.

The municipal hall, in the absence of a public school gymnasium has been used for the past several seasons by the girls and the problem now will be to provide them with another recreation centre. The only substitutes are the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. or the main auditorium of the Y. W. C. A.

The former is unsuitable by the very nature of the institution and it shares the disadvantages of the Y. W. C. A. basketball floor in its restricted space for spectators.

AMERICAN POLICE SYSTEM

Although the most hopeful method of fighting so-called "crime waves" appears to be in educational lines, yet for drastic treatment the police service is indispensable and all means of improving the efficiency of such service are highly to be commended.

The recent National Police Conference held in New York served to make clear the main weaknesses of American police methods.

One feature of American population admittedly makes police America a more difficult problem than that in continental countries. This is the diversity of nationalities living in close proximity.

New York must struggle with an unwieldy group of immigrants otherwise the policing task of the various countries is practically a common one.

"Crime waves" are a proof of a weak police system. The trouble lies in a lack of co-ordination of parts of the system. One of the main departments of Scotland Yard is devoted solely to the investigation of the records of those who desire to purchase firearms.

Every branch of the police system in France is made aware of criminal procedure in any part of the country. Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Peru, Paraguay, and Uruguay recently signed a police covenant to which might well be copied by the United States.

Such harmonious co-operation of every part of a system is the only means of gaining efficiency. When not only United States police, but the police of the world unite to work together, then this defense against the criminal will be complete.

HE KNOWS, BUT WILL HE?

"It is a wise man who knows when to stop work," says Rev. James Anderson of Syracuse.

It is a wise man who stops upon knowing when. The country is full of men who are fagged out by the daily grind, who know it, and yet, with one excuse or another, don't stop.

They can't afford it, they think, and yet a good rest is a money-making enterprise, if the long run.

Or, the old shop or office wouldn't get along, if they laid off; and so, the rising young lieutenants in the business get no chance to show the managerial stuff that's in them, and because they haven't been tested or given a chance at experience, the business does break down when death or disease compels "the old man's" vacation.

The business that is dependent solely upon No. 1, day after day, is in a shaky condition, in these times, and the best way to teach No. 2 how to swim is to take him by the hind leg and throw him into seven or eight feet of water; that is, get out and give him a chance to show what is in him.

A good vacation is medicine and a profitable business enterprise, and every fellow whose nose is on the grindstone of hard work is entitled to it.

BEWARE OF THE IVY

This is the season when those susceptible to ivy poisoning need to have a care. Owing to the character of the weather the ivy is especially vigorous this year.

It is claimed to have been demonstrated that one must come in contact with the plant in order to be infected. This may be done through touching the ivy or touching something that has been in contact with it.

Notwithstanding that some appear to be so susceptible that they seem to be poisoned when not aware that they have come in contact with it, the department of agriculture avers that the poison, which is a non-volatile oil, does not evaporate or carry in the wind. However, poison bearing pollen may be carried by the winds.

Many are immune to the poison of the ivy but for those who are especially susceptible, each recurring summer is likely to witness an attack unless all woods and fields are avoided.

To the latter an out-door picnic is a peril to be shunned unless the ground is looked over carefully and assurance is given that no ivy grows there. Some affect to depreciate the suffering that a bad case of poisoning causes, but those who hold such views have never been afflicted to the extent of others, who because of experience would almost as readily take chances with a rattlesnake.

There are about 500 poisonous plants in the United States but for the most part man is not affected by them. It is claimed that animals know what to avoid. Thus by instinct they know what man must find out for himself.

THE NERVOUS WRECK

by E. J. Rath

Copyright by NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

Dad Morgan stands leaning against the corral fence on his Bar-M ranch, watching the approach of two riders. They are his daughter, Sally, and an eccentric young easterner who is visiting the ranch to recuperate from a nervous breakdown.

The visitor is known as the Nervous Wreck, for short—and is a hopeless underdog.

Dad tells Sally that Bob Wells, her fiancé, will be unable to escort her to the train next morning. She is disappointed. Sally has been engaged in the east and "knows the catted in the east and beyond the range."

As Dad puts it, Dad Morgan's ranch is a rather small one, and there is an air of idleness about it. It is a ranch taking a long and honorable rest. The busy years are behind it.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"I ain't got any kick," mused Dad. "I got mine; enough, anyhow. Let the rest of 'em hustle. They haven't come into their rheumatism yet. Only I'm sure that that Sally's going to mess her train."

So was Sally. But, true to Dad's mental prediction, she did not say much about it, even to Bob Wells, who had ridden twenty miles to explain that night Bob was the sheriff.

He was other things besides sheriff; things that were much more important in a material way. He had a claim on the county, and a couple of mining claims that promised, and he owned a general store at the county seat.

Dad Morgan said there wasn't a more lively young hustler in all Montana than Bob Wells. And when Bob took the calling on Sally, Dad felt that the future was working itself out in a proper and prosperous fashion.

As nearly as Dad could figure it out, in the absence of direct information, Sally was going East to see about things for her troupeau. Anyhow, the sheriff seemed to be certain enough about it, and Sally made no denial. She had known Bob Wells since she was a little wild thing raised on the Bar-M, and she did not encounter any surprise in the idea of marrying him.

"I reckon," said Dad, as he glanced up from his supper, "that Bob's got more to lose by your missin' than I have."

The sheriff winked as he reached for the coffee pot and helped himself to a little cup. He was a large, healthy and well-pleased young man, with a slightly boisterous air, even in moments of repose.

Ma Morgan nodded, but made no comment. She was never very talkative, and she contented herself with confirmatory nods, the opinions and conclusions of others usually being sufficient for her.

"If it wasn't for the fact that there'd be no way of getting the horse back, I'd ride over alone," said Sally.

"No chance," declared the sheriff. "Pooh! Why not? Why, Bob, I have done it. I rode as far as the railroad last summer and I know every inch of the trail, and it's only about thirty-five miles."

"Well, I wouldn't let you ride alone. Besides, there'll have to be a pack horse to take your traps. You can't manage everything, Sally."

Sally thought, she could, and she felt a faint resentment at the contrary implication. But she had no intention of arguing it with Bob. He was always positive about things.

"Did you want to go to the railroad tomorrow?"

It was the Wreck speaking. All through supper he had been eating with a silent voracity that caused Dad Morgan to wonder if there was any nerves in the stomach.

"Why, I'd planned to go," said Sally. "but it seems we can't make it."

"Certainly we can make it," declared the Wreck, with sudden assertiveness in his voice. "Why not? I'll take you."

The sheriff laid down his knife and stared. The Wreck never failed to amuse him, but this was his third meeting. So the Wreck would take her to the train, would he? The sheriff glanced at Dad and grinned.

"On horse?" he inquired.

"In a machine," answered the Wreck, shortly.

"Oh-h-h!" It was spoken with gusty good nature, but it carried a warning. "You don't know the Wreck, you know?"

"Yes, he's a good natured fellow, but he's a glared through his horn-rimmed glasses and pushed his plate back."

"Want me to drive you over in the machine?" he demanded, switching his glance to Sally. He swung it out as a sort of sweeping challenge that included even Ma.

"Why, it would be lovely," said Sally.

The sheriff took plenty of time to laugh. He rather expected Dad to join, but Dad merely remained quizzical. Ma and Sally were watching the Wreck.

"Yes, I'm sure would be lovely," said the sheriff, easing down for speech. "Going to put a flivver over the trail, eh? What are you figuring to do?"

Run her on two wheels? The Wreck made an irritable movement of his shoulders and ignored him. He was still looking at Sally.

"Isn't there a road?" he asked.

"It's a road part of the way," said Sally.

"A good part of the way, yes, it is. Is, is; you can drive a wagon over it."

"And what do you do when you come to the mountain?" inquired the sheriff, smiling. "I haven't noticed any road there yet."

"But I'm sure you get that far. I'm certain of it," Sally was getting interested. "And the other road must go somewhere. There were some people from the north who came through in a car only last spring."

"Well, it's a long, roundabout road, even if you located it," said the sheriff. "I know the people you mean. Still the Wreck ignored him."

"Is it country like this around here?" he demanded. "All open and plain sailing?"

"There's plenty of open country," answered Sally, with a faint smile. The Wreck smiled back, just as he did the sheriff. But she found something more than amusement in him. There were times when his assurance fairly started her yelling.

She still liked the idea of making her train.

"Road part way and open country the rest of the way," observed the Wreck. "Anything the matter with that? You don't like the dark?"

"I'll hear you yelling if you try to make it in a flivver," remarked the sheriff, and he coupled another laugh with it.

Sally was musing over it, and found the idea slightly exciting.

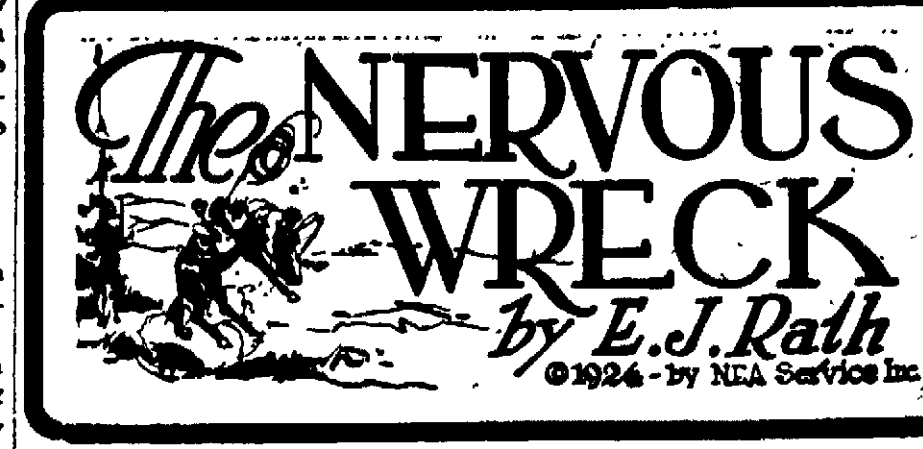

"Bob, I don't see any reason why it can't be done," she said, slowly. "And if we had to turn back, why there is no harm, anyhow."

"Turn back?" wheeled the Wreck. "What for? You want to catch a train, don't you? Well, when I start catching trains, I catch 'em. Want to go?"

"Why?"

Sally looked at the sheriff. He shook his head authoritatively.

"Can't be done, Sally. I know what I'm talking about. And besides—"

Chapter II

The two-story building was miles back of them; how many, Sally could not exactly tell, for there was no speedometer on the flivver. But there were fifteen miles from the ranch, at least, and the railroad was still more miles to the north. By the trail which wound high along the eastern flank of Black Top it was about twenty miles, as nearly as Sally could figure. They could not follow the high trail, of course; somewhere a road branched, which they must make, and Sally was intent on watching for the road.

It was an odd sensation, bumping over the trail on wheels. It helped her to forget that there had been words with the sheriff the night before, just as he was saddling to ride back to his job at Pikes.

Once she remembered the fact to him, but it was a pretty bad trail, after he had navigated a detour that carried him around a boulder.

"Bad trail," he echoed, almost sharply. "You don't call this bad, do you? I call it a boulevard."

He was obsessed with a resolve to make the task so childishly simple that he would eat his words and he overcame with mortification.

The Wreck's name was Henry Williams, and he belonged considerably farther east than Sally had ever been; as far as Pittsburgh, in fact. His coming to the Bar-M had been without specific premeditation; it was merely an incident. It appeared in a great plan. The first sight of him in the middle of a forenoon, two weeks back, coming furiously up the coulee, with a radiator that boiled like Old Faithful and a carbon knock that sounded like the crack of doom. He brought the thing to a stop in the doorway, introduced himself, asked for water, turned for supper, and then kept on staying.

DRAKES BRANCH, August 1.—(Grapevine Wire.)—Uncle Windy Wolf of Pleasant Gap, joined the chair warmers at Acres' warehouse this morning.

After filling his flimsy pipe with Oranger Rough Cut, became a u n m y a l e c e n t, and spoke thusly:

"Years ago before I was married, I remember while visiting a friend in a nearby city, I went to a dance one evening. After dancing for some two hours, being utterly bored with the rottenness of the music, I went out on the veranda to get a breath of fresh air. After assuming a while, I started back into the ballroom. Just as I opened the door, a beautiful, bobbed-haired girl bumped into me. I asked her pardon, and took the girl home. On the way there I became so enamored with my companion that I paid no attention to the quarter into which I was talking to her. When we arrived there, we decided for the better to do, to sit out in the car for a while. Time flew. The faster I worked the harder I fell. Everything was sitting pretty. She was now in my arms with her beautiful auburn hair falling about my shoulders. Her eyes, flashing brilliantly in the dark, almost drove me wild. We lost all trace of the time. Suddenly, a sound was raised, and a voice cried out in the dark: 'Josephine, why in the 'Hell-an-Maria' don't you come to bed. You musta forgot you got a week's ironing to do tomorrow.'"

SKINNY PEOPLE NEVER FORGET TO PULL DOWN THE SHADES AT NIGHT!

Barnett Lea says this is Tudor's campaign song:

There's a long, long trail a'winding into the land of my dreams, where the Esquimos are playing 'neath the moon's cold beam; where electric fans are useless and no one need buy their ice; and if I could live in Greenland's chimes I'd think it mighty nice.

Remember the date and don't be late in voting for TUDOR, AUGUST 5th, to nominate a Democrat for Congress.

Night Blindness.

A. L. M. writes: Would be glad if you could give me any information in regard to night blindness. I inherited it from my father, and he from his mother. Do not know if it went far back. My father's, oldest and youngest children were afflicted with it, while the other five could see normally. The moon never shines brightly enough for me to walk alone and I have never been able to see a star except the evening star. My sight is fairly good during the day except being slow to me. I may look for an object for some time and then see it clearly.

REPLY.

Very few subjects have been so well studied as the one you ask about. One study of a family that was of a night blindness strain included reports on 21,116 persons.

In a Negro family affected by Dr. Bordley, an affected male married a normal woman. They had four children including one normal daughter, one night blinded son, and two night blinded sons. One son married a normal woman and had three night blinded sons. There that line stopped. The other married a normal woman. They had seven children, all night blinded except one daughter. Five of these children, including one daughter, begot children. In this generation there were twenty-three children, of whom only four were normal. At the time the next study was made, there were only five children in the fifth generation. All were blind at night.

Davenport gives the inheritance law as follows: Night blindness people should not reproduce. However, normal males from such stock may do so with impunity, but normal females may have children only when all their brothers (more than two) are without the defect. Normal females in most night blinded families may carry the disease.

It would be interesting to know how many of your grandmother's descendants have it.

A night blind person should not beget or bear children. The persons of night blind families should not marry and beget children even though they be normal themselves.

I am sorry I cannot report more favorable as to your outlook. Eventually, a large portion of those who suffer from night blindness go blind. Bordley found the worst of those who went blind after suffering from night blindness did not survive more than two years after complete loss of vision.

Would it not be wise to learn the Braille system at night. You could entertain yourself after dark by reading and you would be prepared for the days of poorer vision.

Milk and Weight.

Miss V. C. writes: I am 5 feet 6 inches tall and weigh just about 108 pounds. I would like very much to gain, but it seems I can't. I can get fresh, sanitary sweet milk, but it upsets my stomach to drink it as do all foods rich in fat building elements. What can I do to remedy this? Is there any way I can fix the sweet milk so it will not upset my stomach?

REPLY.

If you cannot drink sweet milk, try buttermilk, clabber, or cottage cheese. Eat a full meal at noon and then take a nice nap. At bedtime drink a glass of buttermilk and eat a pizza or crackers or its equivalent of sugared rice. Then go to bed and sleep eight hours. Go to bed at the same hour every night. Learn to be calm and poised. Eschew "fatty" foods and "wiggly" Shrink at least one glass of buttermilk or its equivalent with each meal.

Explaining "Exhausted Heart."

Mr. L. B. writes: "Exhausted heart." I'm told is an "exhausted heart." I take digitalis to keep it going. Is this considered dangerous? Are frequent doses of digitalis bad for me? I am 58 years old and have kidney trouble to some extent. Is one with an exhausted heart apt to go suddenly, or by keeping quiet and resting can it ever be cured?

REPLY.

I do not know what an exhausted heart is. I can see no reason for your taking digitalis. This is a powerful and valuable remedy. Used properly, it is a life saver. Used improperly, it may do harm. The chances are you take it in small doses after a sloppy fashion, and taken that way, it neither harms nor helps you. It may lessen your appetite somewhat, but to offset that it has a good mental effect. I expect "exhausted heart" means "down in your mind."

This is the story of Johnny McGuire. Who ran through the town with his trousers on fire. He went to the doctor's and fainted with fright. When the doctor told him his end was in sight.

ANVIL SPARKS

Nothing makes a defeated candidate madder than going back to work.

Nearly everybody who is glad to meet you is selling something.

After a girl contracts to go through life with a man she naturally hates to make most of the trip alone.

Statistics show women have charge of spending 30 per cent of the money in circulation and the figures don't have to be proven.

When a fisherman begins telling about his trip remember this: The largest bass ever caught weighed only 18 pounds.

VALUES

Roadhouse owner near Fort Wayne, Ind., says he couldn't sell near-beer at 10 cents a glass, but began to sell over a barrel a day as soon as he raised the price to 50 cents a glass.

The average American seems to buy things because they are to expensive or too cheap. An accurate sense of value is rare in our country. We might profitably employ Hebrew and Chinese in our schools to teach this one subject, in which they excel.

WINDMILLERS

Politicians campaigning by radio this year will be tuned out unless they make their speeches short and snappy. It was different with the Democratic convention broadcaster. The element of contest and endurance was present to counteract the monotony of repetition and long duration.

This will be the first presidential campaign in history in which campaigners will be able to address members of rival political parties. Can you imagine Democratic firing a hail to hear Republican speeches or Republican hearing Democratic?

The radio will work this marvel.

FLYING

An airplane in France stays in the air 25 hours without coming down to earth. Unlike most air stunts, this is important. It demonstrates that flying is getting safer. Popular reluctance at going up in a plane is due to fear of falling. As soon as a flier stays aloft a week it'll be time to advertise for buyers of flying flivvers.

Airplane industry is obsessed with a craze for speed and long flights. It should, instead, concentrate on safety—the thing needed to bring planes into widespread use.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Democratic belligerents, "signs," portents and symbols" insist that John W. Davis' election as president of the United States was preordained—at least as far back as the date of his departure from England after surrendering his post of ambassador.

For when Davis left England, lord of the British admiralty sent out to sea with the vessel which brought him home an escort of 21 destroyers.

And as a salute of 21 guns is the "presidential" salute in the American navy, an escort of 21 destroyers is a "ruler's escort" under British custom.

Thus it was that the British "acquired" us by a matter of years on one of our (perhaps) future presidents.

Whether Davis is elected or not, the Democrats are going to make history this year.

For the party has, even now, a list of campaign contributors greater than any ever filed at the capital. Pasted end to end, the sheets containing this list would reach the full length of Pennsylvania avenue, from the treasury to Peace Monument; more than a mile. The financial workers of the party, however, are confident that will be more than doubled by the contributors who will now chip in their dimes and dollars as members of Davis-Bryan Victory Clubs.

These "Victory Clubs," more than 200 of which have been organized, contributed the money which enabled Cordell Hull to turn over the reins of the party to Clem Shaver with all bills paid and money in the bank.

More than 10 per cent. of the $200,000 raised in recent months has come in $5 checks. Which, Hull and Shaver submit, proves the Democratic campaign is being democratically financed!

Although all bills are paid, for the first time in the party's history at this stage of the campaign, a lot of new cash will be needed to carry the fight to victory on Nov. 4.

Opportunity will be given every good Democrat who can raise $5 to become a member of Victory Club. It is hoped to double or even triple the number of clubs and to multiply the membership so that a round half million names will have to be carried to the office of the secretary of the Senate for filing as "contributors" to the Davis-Bryan campaign.

Bert New, secretary of the Democratic national committee, already has what is probably the most extensive political card index in history.

More than 750,000 names are on his lists, covering "dependable" workers in every State, county, ward and precinct, who may be called upon to shoulder local duties and responsibilities.

"Economy," however, is to be maintained as the Democratic watchword. Being out of debt is not to justify any reckless spending.

As an example of the economy, or at least of the "killifish management," it is pointed out that while the San Francisco convention of 1920, lasting seven days, cost the party's national treasury $95,000, the 14-day struggle at New York was handled by Hull at a net cost of but $50,000.

In New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Fred Duesenberg, the world's greatest breeder of mechanical horses, is in town.

His racing cars have won automobile races on two continents. Jimmy Murphy, driving one, was the only American driver in an American-made car to win a Grand Prix race. That was in 1921 at Le Mans, France.

Duesenberg built the car that officially traveled faster on four wheels than any other object. It was driven at a speed of 58.4 miles an hour over the hard sands of Daytona Beach, Fla., by Tommy Milton.

Sixty-two world records belong to Duesenbergs.

Duesenberg's most famous victory was in the Indianapolis 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway last May when Joe Boyer, the millionaire pilot, drove from behind to win in the most thrilling finish ever seen in an automobile race. A new track record for the distance—33.2 miles an hour—was established.

The Duesenberg that won got its speed from a device known as a super-charger.

Yesterday Duesenberg confided to me where the perplexing super-charger problem was solved.

It was in a church in Indianapolis. In the middle of a sermon about something Duesenberg doesn't even remember.

Immediately after the church service was completed, Duesenberg went to his drawing board and worked out the details of the idea that came to him in the quiet of a Sunday service. It made him a winner.

Money, difficult to capture at the easiest, is found in strange places.

A ten-year-old boy saw a deserted ice box in a vacant lot. In curiosity he examined it. He found $18. The police are holding it for a claimant.

Mike Monfretti, a laundry wagon driver, found $355 in a pillow slip one of his customers had given him. He returned it to the owner.

"Thank you," was his only reward.

John Clotfield is here searching for J. T. Hernandez.

Twenty years ago Hernandez, a stranger, approached Clotfield, a visitor in the lobby of a hotel, and asked Clotfield for a check.

Against his best judgment, and disobeying warnings of hotel clerks and signs, Clotfield cashed the stranger's check.

Now, after 20 years, Clotfield is searching for the stranger.

The check was good and Clotfield went to hold a reunion with an honest man.

PREPARATIONS FOR OBSERVING DEFENSE DAY IN FOURTH AREA

(By The Associated Press.)

ATLANTA, July 31.—Major General David C. Shanks, commanding officer of the fourth corps area, today requested the governors of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, the states comprising the area, to appoint civilian committees in each city to serve on national defense day, September 12.

The committees are requested for the purpose of arranging patriotic demonstrations and obtaining volunteers to fill the ranks of the National Guard and organized reserves.

FIRPO TRAINS ON SCENE OF DEMPSEY'S QUARTERS

Argentine Will Start Actual Work for Will's Fight Today.

(By The Associated Press.)
WHIT ESULPHUR SPRINGS, N. Y., July 31.—Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, pitched his camp here today in preparation for his training for the match with Harry Wills in Jersey City, September 11. Firpo's ding has been set up at the same spot where Jack Dempsey trained at last summer for his match with Firpo.

The Argentine will start actual training tomorrow with road work, rope skipping, bag punching, rowing and baseball.
When he arrived here today, he found Mike McTigue, world's lightweight champion, Bartley McGee, New York heavyweight, and Jack Britton, former world's welterweight champion, in training at the camp. They left when Firpo arrived, and found other quarters near the Firpo camp.

SUB INFELDER ENABLES BOX TO DEFEAT BOSTON

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, July 31.—Timely hitting by Harvey McClellan, who is substituting at second base for Captain Eddie Collins, coupled with a double steal by Sheely and Archdeacon, enabled Chicago to defeat Boston 5 to 4 today. Mangum pitched well until the sixth when he weakened. Collins strained a muscle in his leg and will be out a few days.

Score: Chicago 5, Boston 4.

Boston 001 000 002—3 8 2
Fullerton and Picinich; Mangum and Orouse.

INDIANS AND ATHLETICS SPLIT TWIN BILL

(By The Associated Press.)

CLEVELAND, July 31.—Cleveland and Philadelphia broke even today, Philadelphia winning the first 7 to 3 and Cleveland the second 4 to 3 in ten innings. After Metevier was driven from the box in four innings, in the second game, Messenger, a right handed pitcher from the Saginaw club, held Philadelphia to four hits. In the seventh his double scored Lutzke with the tying run, Cleveland winning in the tenth when Speaker's double sent Summa home.

ZACHARY HAS BETTER OF COLLINS IN HILL BATTLE

(By The Associated Press.)

DETROIT, July 31.—Washington nosed Detroit out of second place here today when Zachary won a pitchers battle with Collins. Two singles and a wild pitch in the fourth gave Washington the only run of the game. Zachary allowed but three hits and Collins four. Score: Washington 2, Detroit 0.

WINGARD AND DANFORTH BEAT YANKEES TWICE

(By The Associated Press.)

ST. LOUIS, July 31.—St. Louis took both games of a double-header from the New York Yankees today. In the first game, holding New York to five hits with excellent support, Danforth pitched good ball in the second game, holding the Yankees to six hits. Ruth drove out his thirty-third homer of the season in the sixth of the second game and his fourteenth for July, breaking his previous record for a single month.
First game:
New York 000 001 000—1 5 0
St. Louis 011 000 002—8 2

PILES

Can't Be Cured from the Outside. External treatments seldom cure Piles. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.
To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find an internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Patterson Drug Co., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer—adv.

WHAT FIRPO SAID TO CAL
An utterly unauthentic account of what transpired when the Bull and the President met.

"So you're the president of these states. You ain't hardly big enough to fight Pancho Villa."
"My dear man, Villa is gone and the Mexican situation ceased to be a situation years ago."
"Your joint here is almost as nice as Tex Rickard's in the Garden."
"We have a garden here, too, but the July sun has been awful on the petunias."

"I suppose you are like all other big men and think prize fighters are a lot of hams?"
"Not exactly. I eat ham for breakfast and have much respect for it."
"What do you think of the kidney punch?"

"HITTING FOOL" JOINS YANKEES

JOE "SHAG" HORGAN

Bringing another home run swatter to the Yankees is much like carrying sunshine to Florida. (Adv.)
And yet Manager Huggins has found place for one Joseph "Shag" Horgan on his ball club.
Horgan comes from Reading, Pa., and is said to be a home run hitter of no small talents himself.
P. S.—Huggins, however, is going to play it safe and hold on to Ruth for a couple of days more anyway.

PITTSBURGH DEFEATS GIANTS IN SIX INNING GAME

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 31.—The Pittsburgh Nationals won their seventh straight game here today, defeating New York 5 to 0, in the six innings. The game being called because of rain and darkness. Cuyler, Pittsburgh infielder, hit a homer but lost credit for it, in the seventh when the inning was not completed, the score reverting to the sixth inning. George Kelly, New York's first baseman, was today notified that his father had dropped dead in San Francisco.

Score:
Pittsburgh 050 000—5 9 0
New York 000 000—0 3 0
Meacham and Smith; Watson, Bentley and Snyder.

DOGGERS LOSE AGAIN; BARRETT FEATURES PLAY

BROOKLYN, July 31.—Chicago evened up the series with Brooklyn today winning 4 to 1. Ken was often in difficulty but was pulled out by sharp fielding. Barrett drove in all four of the Cubs' runs, hitting a homer with one on in the third and tripling in the sixth off Roberts with two on. Score:
Chicago 020 002 000—4 8 1
Brooklyn 000 001 000—1 6 1
Keen and Hartnett; Decatur, Roberts and Taylor.

CARDINALS MAKE IT TWO STRAIGHT FROM PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—St. Louis made it two straight from Philadelphia today by batting Mitchell from the box in the first inning and scoring enough runs to win, 6 to 3. Blades' home run blew into the bleachers in the opening round came with two on and accounted for three of the Cardinals' tallies. Hornsby hit his fifteenth homer of the season in the ninth. Score:
St. Louis 410 000—6 11 0
Phila. 020 000 100—3 12 0
Haines and Gonzales; Mitchell, Couch and Wilson.

punch?"

"Say, Cal, what's this 'Keep Cool With Coolidge' mean?"
"That's a slogan we have adopted to help win the election."
"Maybe I better get one of them things to help me against Wills, eh?"
"To be sure. Let's see. How about 'Keep Flourishing With Firp'?"
"Do you ever take in any of the big fights?"

"Well, sir, I haven't attended a session of Congress in months."
"I hear you don't play golf or nothing. Whadda do to keep in shape?"
"Mr. Jenkins, my tailor, is quite trustworthy, senior."

"Well, I will admit you got a nice country here and, generally speaking, I like it."
"Glad to hear it. You can't imagine Bozo, beg pardon, Luis, what a worry you've lifted off my mind."
"There's one spot, though, that could stand a little fixing. Down there at Ellis Island—"

"You mean there is no southern exposure?"
"Exposure! There's too darned much of it. Now take little Senorita Louder. She's a great little kid."
Discussing his experiences later, the god senior was heard to remark: "I don't know why he gave me my hat and showed me the back door."

DANVILLE TAKES FIRST GAME FEATURED BY ED REGAN'S SPEED ON BASES

RALEIGH, July 31.—Timely hitting coupled with errors by the locals gave Danville a 6 to 5 victory over Raleigh in the first of the series with the Virginians here this afternoon. Manager Herb Murphy, who himself participated in today's game, used three pitchers while Garrison went the route for the Capitals. Eddie Regan starred by a daring piece of base running in two instances and with a thrilling catch against the centerfield fence, robbing Stringfield of an extra base hit.

The visitors started the first by sending a trio of runs across off only one hit. Trefly first up, watched for a while and trotted to first. Myers also walked. Staley bunted but Moore at third threw the ball away and Trefly and Myers scored and Staley punched on third, from where he scored on Murphy's single.

The locals tied the count in the same stanza when Barrett hit a home run over centerfield fence after Siner and Allen had singled.
After the Danvillians counted in the first inning the next fifteen men were easy outs, or until the sixth when Myers walked for the second time. Staley singled to left and Matzen let the ball get away from him and Myers scored and Staley again reached third, from where he scored on Murphy's long sacrifice fly.

The visitors' last tally came in the seventh and this proved to be the winning run. Regan beat out an infield roller for a hit by a fast bit of base running. He was sacrificed to short single to right and Regan turned in the swiftest piece of base running seen here this year and slid into the plate—safe!

The Caps made one in the third. Johnson hit safely and stole second, went to third on an infield single and with two out in the same inning the bases became loaded, thanks to a walk, a single and a hit batsman. McWhirter was yanked and Siner sent in. He fanned Moore, his only strike out. Another came in the seventh when Garrison singled and went to second on Trefly's error. Regan robbed Stringfield by his pretty catch. Johnson sacrificed and Garrison counted on Siner's single.

The locals threatened in the eighth. Johnson hit safely and stole second, went to third on an infield single and with two out in the same inning the bases became loaded, thanks to a walk, a single and a hit batsman. McWhirter was yanked and Siner sent in. He fanned Moore, his only strike out. Another came in the seventh when Garrison singled and went to second on Trefly's error. Regan robbed Stringfield by his pretty catch. Johnson sacrificed and Garrison counted on Siner's single.

Sessions hit for the circuit in the sixth with Jones, who had walked on base. In the seventh with two on Jones got his homer. Bourg sent one over centerfield fence in the eighth with one on while Gheen's four-bagger came in the eighth also with Townsend, who had doubled on base. Durham did most of her scoring in the last four innings. The box score follows:

Danville	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Irby, cf	5	1	3	0	0	0
Bourg, 1b	6	1	3	10	0	0
H. Smith, 3b	4	0	1	0	1	0

Durham 210 002 322—12
High Point 013 000 020—6
Summary—Stolen bases: Bourg, G. Thrasher. Sacrifice hits: Sessions, Masters, Townsend. Two-base hits: Irby, Malonee, Herndon, L. Thrasher, Townsend. Home runs: Sessions, Jones, Bourg, Gheen. Struck out by: Masters 3; Gheen 3. Bases on balls off: Masters 4, off Gheen 4. Hit by pitched ball: Meekin, J. Smith, Masters. Time of game: 2:07. Umpires: Sabrie and Lewis. Attendance: 575.

RUHR ECONOMIC AGREEMENT HAS BEEN EXTENDED

DUSSELDORF, July 31.—The German minister and the Franco-Belgian commissions in the Ruhr have agreed upon an extension of the economic accord now in force in that territory until the Daves plan becomes effective, except that after August 15, it is stipulated that the Germans can denounce the arrangement on five days notice. The new agreement provides for the deduction of the license and export fees which the occupation authorities have heretofore imposed.

BOXER KNOWS HOW TO GET PUBLICITY

BOSTON, July 31.—Jack Malone, middleweight boxer of St. Paul, Minn., jumped from the Charleston bridge today with his clothes on, making good a promise that if he did not defeat Frank Moody, an English boxer, he would jump into the harbor. Because he had postponed his plunge and meantime was defeated also by Johnny Wilson, former middleweight champion, Malone swam and clambered back to the bridge and did it all over again, while a crowd looked on, holding up bridge traffic.

Browns Lick Yanks Twice While Senators Lick Tigers

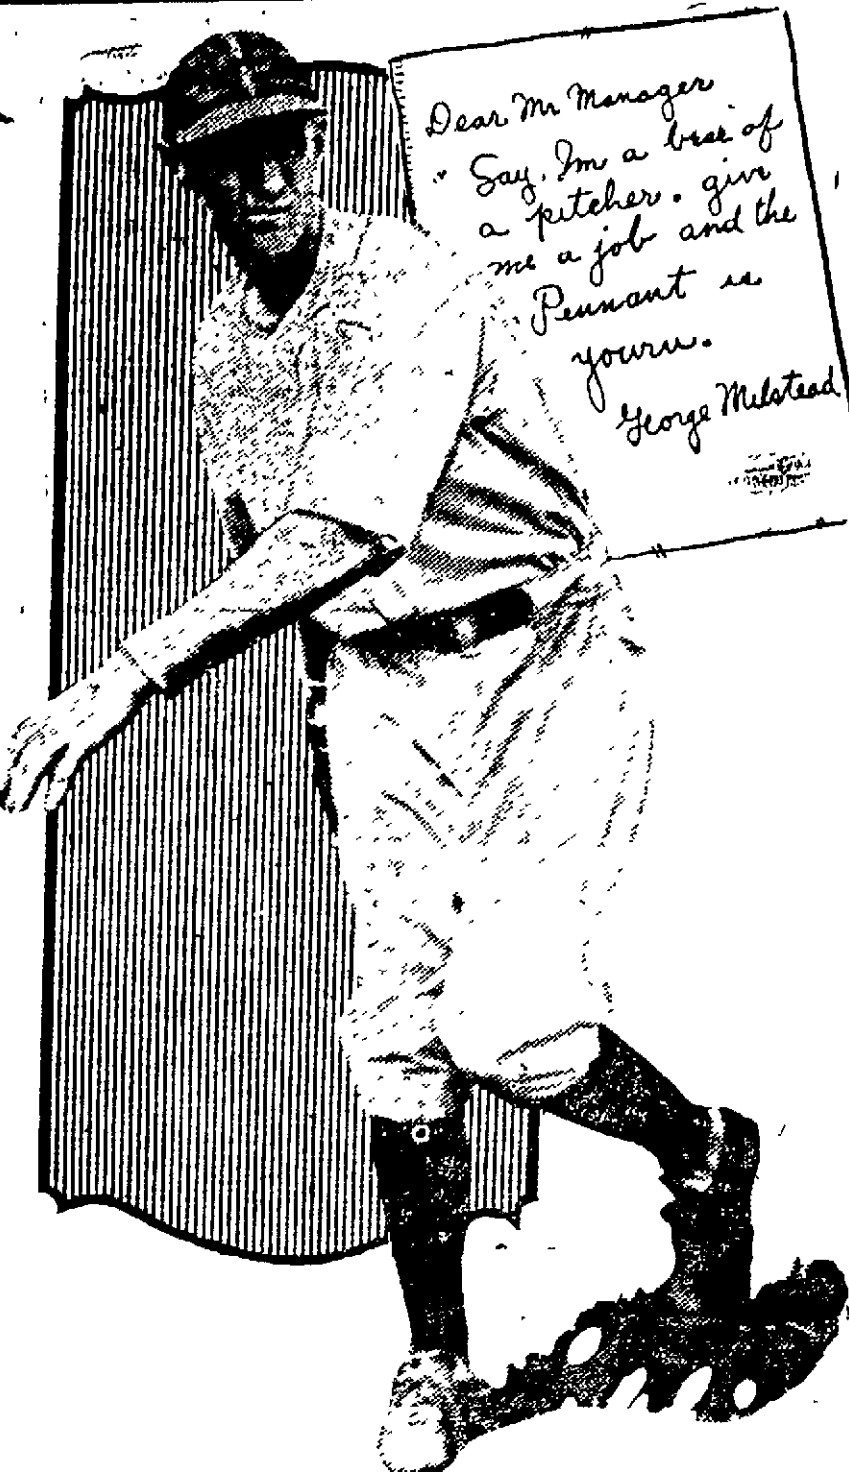

PORTSIDE HURLERS TOO MUCH FOR YANKS-RUTH SETS MONTHLY RECORD

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—St. Louis southpaws proved too much for the league leading Yankees yesterday and the Browns romped home with both ends of a double header, 2 to 1 and 5 to 4. Wingoard in the first game had the New York Yankees at his mercy, limiting them to five hits. In the second, Babe Ruth was the only one able to solve the left-handed slants of the Brown hurlers, gathering two singles in the first and a home run and single in the second. His circuit clout was his 23rd for the season and his 14th this month, establishing a new monthly record. His best previous mark was established in June, 1921 when he made 13 home runs.

The double defeat cut down the Yankees lead to one half game over Washington as the Senators defeated Detroit 1 to 0 when Zachary out did Collins in a pitching duel.

Harvey McClellan, substituting at second for Eddie Collins who is out for a few days due to a strained leg, was a big factor in Chicago's victory over Boston 5 to 4. The Athletics and the Indians broke even in a double header, Philadelphia taking the first.

"Mail Order" Pitcher

Dear Mr. Manager
Say, I'm a fan of a pitcher. Give me a job and the pennant is yours.
George Milstead

Don't wait for time to come after you. Go after them. That is the motto of George Earl Milstead, a young pitcher who is making good with the Chicago Cubs. George Earl Milstead, 22, was born in Texas. He was scouted around to give him the once over down in his Texas diggings. So George Earl sat down and wrote letters to all the big league club owners. "You're overlooking a guy who is good enough to pitch in any league." In words to that effect he wrote Bill Veck of the Cubs was interested and sent for him. "He's the best mail-order pitcher I ever saw," comments Veck.

Grandstand Gaff

HEY didn't do such a powerful lot of hitting but they did break some speed records on the bases. No Leaf got more than one hit and only six got any at all. They were timely though and a couple of bad errors by the Cape helped a whole lot. While Danville was winning the Bulls were over at High Point making the fur fly by taming the Pointers, while Winston booted another game away to Carroll's gang.

Twins Up In Air.
Wonder what's the matter with the Twins. They have been playing for the past week like a gang of back-lotters. They booted another game away yesterday. They seem to be losing all their games, mostly by errors now.

Murphy Gets Back.
Manager Herb Murphy got back into the game yesterday and was responsible for two runs. He brought Staley in once on a single and scored the same runner again on a sacrifice fly. Boss Herb played the hot corner and let Dave Cochlin don the mask so he wouldn't forget how. Ernst took a rest.

Raleigh Gets a Thrill.
Although Raleigh continues to lose consistently and the fans expect nothing more, they got a thrill that comes "once in a season" yesterday when Barrett surprised the stands by a wallop over the fence. It was the first home run over the fence a Raleigh player had made there this year. It was the first excitement the stands had seen in a long time.

"You'd Be Surprised"
"He's not so much at the bat. But when he gets on the paths, You'd be surprised."
Now who else could do that but Regan or Trefry? This time it was Eddie. Speed? Why that bird would make a rabbit look like a tortoise. Regan hasn't been hitting the best in the world recently but when he gets on, the other side better look out. Yesterday he went down to first like a streak and beat out an infield roller, was sacrificed to second, from where he scored on a short single to right. He came in like a deer and slid into the plate safely. "Pretty piece of work," the sport scribe at Raleigh ruminated last night.

American Race Tightens.
The race in the American league tightened further yesterday when the Yankees were knocked out of the games while Washington was trimming the Tigers. Only four points separate the Senators from the Yanks, who are on top, and only five points separate the Tigers from the Senators. St. Louis looks like she may get into the stew if she continues to win, too.

WESNEDGE HOLDS HILL CITY TEAM HELPLESS

LYNCHBURG, Aug. 1.—Wesledge, former Danville Piedmont League pitcher, sold to Chicago, pitching for the Danville All-Stars yesterday afternoon at the Fair Grounds, and he held Lynchburg helpless, his visitors winning by the score of 2 to 4. It was a real ball game, and was in doubt up to the last at bat. Wesledge pitched a perfect game, and was in doubt up to the last at bat. Wesledge pitched a perfect game, and was in doubt up to the last at bat.

been rewilded and were considered substantial. The men are large as Charles Jester and Spencer Brouman each serving 90 days for violating the Mapp Act, Ed Pulliam serving a six months term for the same offense and William Gray who was serving out a fine he did not pay.

Darlington, too, pitched a great game. He struck out ten men and should have had a shutout as the three-bagger by Luther, which scored two in the seventh, came after the two should have been retired. Two splices catches by Nottingham and Bowen were fielding features of the game. Nottingham grabbed a line drive by O'Dell in the first inning that was labelled safe, and Bowen taking one on the dead run across the right field foul line that looked impossible.

TWO ESCAPE AT STUART.
(Special to The Bee)
STUART, Aug. 1.—Another jail delivery is reported here. Lawrence Cox of Meadows of Dan and M. K. Pleasants of North Carolina being held here for the serving of terms following recent trials. The men succeeded in digging their way through the brick wall of the jail and they have not been captured.

Both pitchers got hand after hand from the crowd when in several instances they set the last batters down on strikes. Darlington fanned three men in the third and got two in each of the fifth and seventh, while Wesledge set six men in a row down on strikes, fanning the last man in the fourth, three in the fifth and the first two up in the sixth.

Danville scored her two runs in the seventh. Carter, the first man up, bunted in front of the plate. Dennis threw to first was low and Lefler juggled the ball, which came to him on the bounce. Hughes fanned, but Woods singled to center for his second hit of the game. Darlington threw Turner out at first, but Luther came through with a triple that scored both runners. O'Dell fanned.

Lynchburg scored in the eighth. Bowen beat out a bunt. Dennis was safe on a slow one down the third base line. Bowen going to third on the play. Bowen scored when Wesledge threw low to first to catch Dennis. Fortune was out on strikes and Dennis was out at the plate, when Mattox hit to the pitcher.

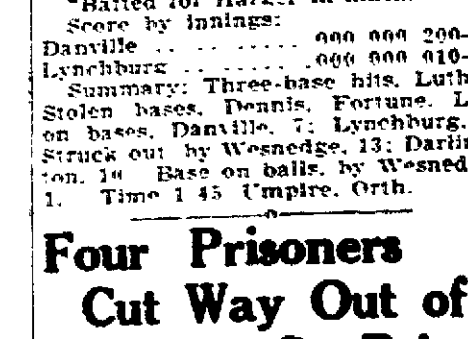

In the ninth, after Nottingham had been thrown out by a step on a ground ball to third, Wesledge fanned Tyree and Huffine, who batted for Harger. The box score.

For the Game's Sake

By LAWRENCE PERRY

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—In view of the victory of the French tennis team over England in the Davis cup match preliminaries no close follower of lawn tennis has any doubt that France will be the winner in the European zone and will come to the United States to play against the American zone winner.

Some even go so far as to predict that this year will see American defenders engaged against French challengers in Davis cup finals at Germantown. This presupposes that Germany will be the inter-zone match at Longwood in September.

It might well happen. The French team is made up of whom are improving youngsters whereas the Australians as with the Americans are, comparatively speaking veterans.

American tennis enthusiasts who have been watching play in Europe this summer say that Jean Borotra has made marked forward strides in all departments of the game and they do not hesitate to name him as the most formidable player of the French team. He is dashing and brilliant and, at the same time has good control of all sorts of shots.

He is picked as superior to Rene Lacoste inasmuch as he goes to the net for finishing shots. Much more often than his young colleague does, but otherwise there seems little to choose between the two young stars. It will be recalled that at Wimbledon, Borotra put out Vincent Richards and that Lacoste did the same for Norris Williams.

Any players who can turn a trick of this sort are entitled to every consideration by those who love to predict the outcome of tennis events. Henri Cochet and Jean Brugnon are the other two members of the French team. Cochet lost his Eng-land-France singles match to Brian Gilbert but nonetheless is a first class player, slightly below the level of Cochet and Lacoste to be sure, but a player of the outstanding ability of the two stellar performers rather than to flaws in Cochet's game. Brugnon is about as good as Cochet and paired with Borotra it makes up a really formidable doubtless outfit.

La Follette Drive Starts Sept. First

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The national campaign in support of the Independent-Progressive ticket, headed by Senator La Follette as presidential candidate and Wheeler as vice-presidential candidate, organization leaders asserted today, will be in full swing by September 1st.

The setting up of campaign and electoral machinery will have progressed by that time said the leaders to the point where a direct appeal may be made effectively to the voters, led by the candidates themselves.

ROBIN DIES AT 17

COLUMBIA, Pa., Aug. 1.—"Booby," pet robin owned by Miss Mary Ziegler, died recently at the age of 17. Miss Ziegler placed the robin in a cage when it was young and cared for it like a cat. The bird quickly became tame and answered to its name by three chirps, uttered in quick succession.

DEMPSEY INTERESTED IN PRODUCTION OF MOVIES

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—All those reports that Jack Dempsey's ring career had been ended by injuries suffered in a recent automobile smash-up, on the way to his usual hotel, are being laid away in campfire smoke. The champion spiked them in emphatic fashion today in an interview that started on the stage at Universal City where he was working in a film production and ended in his dressing room where he sat, the picture of calm strength, in a big easy chair.

The Sportsman

By WALTER CAMP

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Much more should be made of these public links championships as an incentive to young players born without the traditional silver spoons in their mouths. They develop the game among those who cannot afford to belong to regular clubs and in short tend to take it out of the rich man class.

The public links tourney recently held at Franklin Park for the New England championship proved most successful. In the west they are carrying out the idea of a broad scale and the game of golf is benefiting thereby.

Two figures are just now occupying the special attention of the tennis world in the shape of Gerald Patterson—who smashed Snodgrass into submission and with his partner in doubles O'Hara Wood defeated the Kinsleys for the metropolitan doubles championship—and Little Bill Johnston.

Patterson is going better than ever before and Little Bill is making a concentrated effort to achieve the championship in national singles. But even with these two stars, the field fixed upon the scene of the country is a question as to whether the commanding figure of William Tilden cannot be kept out of focus. Big Bill is sweeping all before him in the west and this brings up an interesting question as to whether Tilden is not taking too much out of himself. But with on year's exception he has been able to stand the severe pace of many tournaments and indeed in this respect seems to be laid into himself.

Golf Tournament Begins; Several U. S. Players Quit

(By The Associated Press.)
MOUNT BRUNO, Quebec, August 1.—Despite withdrawals of several noted players from the United States, the first two rounds of the Canadian open golf championship got under way today with a class field, competing for the Blue Ribbon of dominion golf. The matches which started at 8:30 o'clock this morning will not be finished until late today because of the large number of contestants.

The feature pairings today were those of Gene Sarazen, former U. S. open champion and Johnny Farrell, New York. T. G. Armour, former Scottish champion and now of the Westchester-Biltmore Club, and Redvers Mackenzie, of Montreal; Clarence Hackney, Atlantic City and C. S. Lyon, of Toronto, veteran Canadian amateur champion.

Only those players with scores 20 strokes higher than the lowest cards will qualify for the 36 holes play tomorrow morning.

Among those who withdrew yesterday were Cyril Walker, Walter Hagen, MacDonald Smith and Joe Kirkwood.

LODGE MUCH IMPROVED.

(By The Associated Press.)
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 1.—Dr. John H. Cunningham's morning bulletin today on the condition of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, a patient at the Charlestown hospital, said: "Progress continues unevenly. Condition is excellent."

Overnight Features

By The Associated Press

Experts at London inter-allied conference and their night session without full agreement on vital phases of French proposals for reparations settlement.

President Coolidge sticks to his decision against any personal entrance into the political phases of the defense day controversy. Washington advices say.

Department of agriculture declares American wheat growers may get from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 more for their wheat this year than last; disputes the billion dollar increase estimated in certain quarters.

Detroit Free Press prints a report that Henry Ford may seek Republican nomination for United States senator from Michigan.

Young people in the society of Friends are organizing nation-wide drive against idea of national defense day. Richmond, Ind., dispatches show.

Attorney General Stone has ordered a further inquiry into gasoline price situation and there are also indications he is to attack certain oil equipment companies for alleged violations of anti-trust laws.

Louis Johnson, inmate of Michigan home and training school, confesses to murder of Mr. Blanche Burk, young widow, Lapeer, Mich., dispatch says.

Governor Bryan of Nebraska asserts that his opinion on national defense day plans was not intended as a criticism of Republican administration.

Secretary and Mrs. Hughes got an enthusiastic reception in Brussels, Belgium.

General Pershing, on his arrival in New York from France, announces that he and other service men are ready "to go to the mat" on the problem of national defense.

Death in New York of Elkin Naumburg, 89, patron of music, who gave the city of New York the temple of music on Central Park Mall.

SAVAH HEARS JAZZ
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—"Concerts given by WGO are enjoyed here," writes W. R. Ragsdale, trader at Savah, the last primitive island of Polynesia. "The jazz dance music from San Francisco is great and is very much appreciated by the natives."

TOWN SEEKS RADIO
DEBORD, Ky., Aug. 1.—A pamphlet appealing for funds for a radio receiving set has been sent out by the 300 residents of the sparsely settled neighborhood of Debord in order that they may hear distant church services. Debord is a farming village in the mountains of eastern Kentucky and the village is without church services except one or twice a year, when a minister visits the locality.

South Carolina, Pennsylvania and Missouri are the only states that do not have official flowers.

AUTO SPECIALTY COMPANY DEFENDS U-DRIVE-IT TEAM

In a very interesting game of ball yesterday the Auto Specialty team, composed of automobile salesmen and mechanics defeated Alec Davis' U-Drive-Its team, composed of his employees, policemen, plumbers and painters by the rather close score of 7 to 5 in an abbreviated three-inning affair, terminated by darkness.

The game was featured by the effective twirling of Perkins for the Auto Specialties, while the U-Drive-Its were forced to use three pitchers in 2 1/2 many innings. There was some hard-hitting at times, and some spectacular fielding, but on the whole both teams showed lack of practice. Another game will be played next week and a different story may be told then.

Batteries—U-Drive-Its: Davis, Slayton, Cloninger and Yeaman. Auto Specialties: Perkins and Gibbs.

The stock of game and fur-bearing animals in New York state is estimated to be worth $54,000,000.

SAWED OFF GUNS ARE BEING USED BY DRY AGENTS

Bootleggers and Highjackers in California Giving Much Trouble

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Prohibition enforcement agents assigned to guard this particular section of the Pacific coast from illicit liquor importations are just now in the strange, anomalous position of defending violators of the Volstead law with sawed-off shotguns.

In the same situation there also has been found in entirely new, but very effective way of enforcing the eighteenth amendment—to wit, the activities of a band of desperate highjackers who, in the past week have swooped down upon five liquor smuggling expeditions, shot three alleged bootleggers, and carried off approximately 250 cases of freshly "imported" scotch.

In their brief week of operations the highjackers have spread pandemonium among the entire bootlegging fraternity and accomplished more than a hundred prohibition enforcement sleuths had been able to do in several years.

The shotgun activities of the dry agents which have just been ordered are not particularly directed toward protection of the persecuted bootleggers, but they are working out the way just the same. Highjackers, it develops, have been interfering with well planned raids of the dry sleuths. As a result prohibition officials have armed all agents with pump guns loaded with buckshot and given instructions to shoot first and investigate afterward whenever they encounter highjackers. The same orders, but with a cautionary note to be a more careful shot, have been issued regarding bonafide bootleggers who offer armed opposition to the same agents.

The highjackers, who prohibition officials believe were imported from the east by one faction in a price war between rival liquor rings first made their appearance early last Thursday near Half Noon Bay, the favorite landing place for liquor from the rum ships off shore.

Considerable mystery surrounds the first raid, the smoke of battle cleared away however, big Joe Ferris, alleged king of one faction of the local bootleggers, was found mortally wounded and three truckloads of scotch whisky within 24 hours another liquor smuggling expedition was held up, a second bootlegger shot and two more truckloads of liquor driven away.

Since then information regarding the highjackers has been similarly fruitful and involving the shooting of a third bootlegger, have reached prohibition authorities. Two of the last three raids however, were on liquor smuggling expeditions belonging to a faction credited with starting the highjacker war, indicating either that reprisal tactics had been resorted to or that the highjackers had turned to free lanceing.

W. J. BRYAN PREDICTS DEFEAT OF COOLIDGE

(By The Associated Press)
MIAMI, Fla., July 31.—William Jennings Bryan tonight predicted that the progressive Democrats, combined with the progressive element in the Republican party would defeat Calvin Coolidge for re-election. Mr. Bryan addressed his home folks on the work of the nation in New York a few hours before he left for the north on a speaking tour for his party's ticket.

John W. Davis' speeches will overcome the presumptions raised against him, Mr. Bryan said. "When Davis takes the platform on his campaign tour, he is going to rally every progressive Democrat in the country as well as many progressive Republicans, who will find the reactionary principles of Coolidge and Dawes unpalatable when election comes."

"And when the progressives of the northwest go to vote and they know that Laollette cannot be elected no matter how much they admire his stand, they are going to vote for the next best man in their opinion who can be elected, Davis."

YOUNG COOLIDGE IS NOT GOING TO CAMP

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 31.—Plans made by President and Mrs. Coolidge to permit their son, John, to attend the citizens military camp this summer at Camp Devens, Mass., have been abandoned and John will remain with his parents at the White House until fall when he enters Amherst College.

It was the plan and desire of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge at the time school closed last June that both John and his brother, Calvin, Jr., should attend the camp but since the death of the latter the question of John's attendance at the camp has been held in abeyance. John has been spending almost all of his time with his mother and his presence was found to be such a comfort to her that she finally decided it would be better for him to remain here until school opens.

NEW ARMY CHIEF

Major General John L. Hines, deputy chief of staff, will succeed General John J. Pershing as chief of staff of the United States army when Pershing retires Sept. 12. General Hines virtually has been chief for the past six months, owing to Pershing's absence abroad.

ENTERTAINMENT OF LAWYERS CONTINUES

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, July 31.—The visiting American and Canadian lawyers today continued the round of receptions and festivities which had been arranged in their honor while their leader, Secretary of State Hughes, regrettably took leave of his French hosts and went on to Brussels.

The morning and early afternoon were spent in a sort of conducted tour of the Versailles Chateau and park, relieved by a banquet in the Orangerie at noon.

After a few hours of hasty sight-seeing the party returned to Paris for two more receptions, one by the Franco-American committee at five o'clock and the other by the Carnegie endowment at 8 o'clock with a reading and reception given by acting Premier Renoult at the ministry of Justice.

The program tomorrow calls for two more receptions, one by the Society of Comparative Legislation and the other, ending official ceremonies, the American chamber of commerce.

The king and queen of England have presented the British Museum with a pair of ivory leopards.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1.—The cotton market had a strong opening, first trades showing gains over yesterday's close of 42 to 55 points. Liverpool cables were better than due but the advance here was due mainly to a large volume of overnight buying orders. October, which traded at 28.50 at the opening, eased off 31 points to 28.19 as soon as the accumulated buying orders were filled. December traded off from an opening high of 28.40 to 28.24, a loss of 24 points. The market then became steady awaiting the weather. Hester's annual statistics on consumption and carry-over are expected this morning.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Prospects of an early agreement being reached at the London reparations conference had a bullish effect on sentiment at the opening of today's stock market. Buying orders were again spread over a broad list with an exceptionally good demand noted for the rails and motors. Atlantic Coast Line moved up 1 point to a new 1924 top at 135 and Houston Oil advanced 1 1/2.

Rails and public utilities assumed the leadership of the early advance during which another flock of new high records for the year was established. All the stocks mentioned in the proposed consolidation of the Van Sweringen's sold at their best prices of the year, including the three Eries, Pere Marquette common and preferred, Chesapeake and Ohio, and "Nickel Plate" the gains ranging from fractions to nearly 2 points. Delaware and Hudson, United Fruit, Mackay Companies and Public Service of New Jersey and General Electric also attained new peak prices. U. S. Steel common crossed 108 to 109 within a point of the year's high. American Waterworks common broke four points in further reflection of a denial of reports that interests identified with the General Electric company had obtained control of the property. Foreign exchanges opened firm.

MAINE OFFICERS LEADING IN SHOOTING TRYOUTS

(By The Associated Press.)
FORT NIAGARA, N. Y., July 31.—Lieutenant R. E. Vermette of Fort Williams, Maine, was leading today in the shooting tryouts for the United States infantry national match, which is being held at Fort Niagara today in third place today brought his total score to 1,040 out of a possible 1,200.

Captain W. A. Hedden, military instructor in the Birmingham, Ala., high schools, was second with 1,022. Lieutenant Eduardo Andino of Mayaguez, Porto Rico, third, with 1,025. Captain L. S. Spooner, military instructor at the University of Pennsylvania, fourth with 1,023 and Lieutenant S. F. Hines, fifth with 1,018. Shooting conditions today were poor. The tryouts will continue through tomorrow.

FATALITY IN GUN FIGHT IN ARKANSAS OIL TOWN

EL DORADO, Ark., July 31.—One man was killed and two others probably fatally wounded in a shooting affray in the Single Street of Lamberton, a small oil town seven miles south of here late today.

George W. Goodman, 60, an oil worker, was killed and an operator, was wounded by bullets said to have been fired by George Young. Martin is not expected to live. Young was critically wounded by a fourth party in the battle, whose name was not learned.

Sheep D. A. Hancock and a number of deputies, accompanied by three ambulances left here early tonight for the scene.

CALLED TO GO TO EUROPE

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, July 31.—General Plutarco Elias Calles, believed to be president elect of Mexico, will come here within a week en route to Europe where he will study social and economic conditions in France, Germany and England. Arturo M. Elias, Mexican consul general here, returned from Mexico today and declared he would accompany General Calles, his half brother on the European trip.

Talking Honey

By G. L. FERGURSON

(o. 22)

In the practice of economy the thrifty housewife is apt to set the price of a gallon of honey against the price of a gallon of sorghum or corn syrup, and say "We can't afford honey." Maybe she hasn't gone far enough, and honey is really the cheaper.

Chemical analysis of alfalfa honey made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture (Browne, Bulletin 119, 1908), and of cane molasses made by the Canadian Internal Revenue Department (Babington, Bul. 25), indicates that honey, because of its greater density and its greater sugar content, has about 50 per cent. more sweetening value than the best cane molasses.

By the same authorities we learn that the best cane syrup contains about 30 per cent. water, while a good grade of honey only contains 17 per cent. of water. Good pure honey contains 81 per cent. of sugar sweet, while the sugar sweet in the best molasses is but 60 per cent.

From reliable data which has been collected from scientific sources we may reasonably conclude that honey is a more economical food at $1.10 per gallon than the best syrups that sell around a dollar.

Before the mother of a numerous brood decides that she cannot afford honey because of its cost, and will use molasses instead, she should consider its greater weight per gallon, its greater sweetening value, pound for pound, with molasses, its greater ease of digestion in the little stomachs, and its preservative value to the teeth. (See Alfred McCann in Dental Digest for April, 1922). Add to these facts the deliciousness of honey, and you'll decide that honey is an ideal food from every possible standpoint.
